

Champagne Express is a seven-year-old bay gelding in training with Nicky Henderson. Champagne Express is a lightly raced seven-year-old, who won on his hurdling and Owners Group debut in February 2015. Following that run, he was beaten six lengths by Rock The Kasbah, who went on to be rated 150 over hurdles. After running a decent enough race to finish fourth next time out in November 2015, Champagne Express was pulled up on each of his next two starts in February and March 2016. Nothing came to light following those two disappointing runs, so he was sent off on his summer break, but when he returned to training in October, he picked up a tendon injury in the pastern (between fetlock or ankle and foot), which required a period of rest.

Champagne Express is due to be re-assessed by the vets before he returns to training in the summer, with a view to running this autumn, but everything looks good so far. Darrell Scaife, who is looking after Champagne Express at the moment, recently said that he looks the best he has ever seen him, so we are hopeful of a full recovery. Being a lightly raced seven-year-old, we feel he is still a good prospect and has always been a chaser in the making with his size and scope, so we are hopeful he can reward the patience of his owners.
